

An A1 update from Highways England

Thank you all for your support and patience during the work on the Leeming to Barton upgrade of the A1M. Highways England is pleased to report that we are more than half way through construction of the £380 million scheme which is planned for completion in Spring 2017. The scheme is being completed by our delivery partners Carillion Morgan Sindall joint venture on our behalf. This very large project involves the management of a workforce of 750 – 800 people. Around 65,000 vehicles travel along the route each day. So far, we have successfully completed the following work:

- We've opened new sections of A1 between Scotch Corner and Catterick North Junction, around Catterick Central Junction and around Leeming Bar.
- We've installed bridge beams at Kneeton Hall, Tunstall Road, catterick Central Junction and over the River Swale.
- We've constructed a temporary pedestrian bridge crossing over the A1 to the north of the new Catterick Central Junction.

We currently plan to open the new northbound A1 to traffic between Catterick North Junction and Scotch Corner in early 2016. Once this is open we will be able to carry out work on the existing northbound carriageway so that it can form the route of the new local access road.

This winter we plan to start work on the north bridge at Scotch Corner, allowing for improvements on the existing roundabout. During this work we need to keep the connection between the A1 and the A66 open during peak times. This means that we are likely to need to put in place some traffic restrictions during the night time – more information will be published on our website <http://www.highways.gov.uk/roads/road-projects/a1-leeming-to-barton-improvement/> If you have any queries or would like further information please do contact the Public Liaison Team on 01677 932348 or email a1leemingtobarton@highwaysengland.co.uk

News from the parish council

Burglaries

There has been a small number of burglaries in the local area in recent weeks so please ensure that you take sensible security precautions to safeguard your property and belongings particularly if you are going out or leaving your home unoccupied for any length of time.

HGV's in the village

Unsurprisingly perhaps, there have been several incidents when HGV's have found their way into the village when the A1 has been closed due to the road works and on a couple of occasions this has resulted in damage to property when they have subsequently tried to turn round. This is not an easy problem to solve as the vehicle drivers are often from abroad and have little or no understanding of English such that the plethora of signs at Scotch Corner mean little to them. The Parish Council is in the process of arranging a meeting of interested parties to see if we can improve on the current situation.

Historic milestone

On the subject of roads and damage, you will probably have noticed that the historic milestone at the top of the Slough has recently been comprehensively damaged, presumably by a large vehicle. We have been in touch with the various authorities concerned and our own historical society. It is not yet clear if the milestone can be repaired but we are taking steps to ensure it does not sustain any further damage while we investigate how best it can be restored and re-positioned so that it is safe in future.

Transfer of ownership

Finally and significantly, we have been working for some time with Richmond District Council to agree the transfer of ownership to the Parish Council of the land adjacent to the school and including the car park off Five Hills Lane, the playground, the field which is currently used mainly as a football pitch and the MUGA. There is potential benefit to the village owning this land within the constraint that it is not to be used for building and must be used for village recreational purposes. At last Thursday's meeting we agreed to form a sub-group of the Parish Council to identify how we should proceed. If you have any thoughts or ideas on how we should take this opportunity forward or if you would like to be part of the group considering options please contact the Parish Clerk, Christine Jones or a member of the Parish Council.

Broadband in Moulton

As previously advised "Superfast North Yorkshire" has confirmed that we will not be able to receive high speed broadband services. Following a community initiative, we are now able to receive wireless broadband through Clannet. A tree that was affecting some properties has been felled and accordingly, much of the centre of the village is able to receive the signal. Those who have signed up to receive wireless broadband with Clannet report considerably faster speeds. If you are interested, contact Nick Hall at Clannet: 01757 668179 or 0845 564 5256 or email halln@clannet.co.uk.

Best Kept Village Competition

The results of this year's competition saw Moulton placed third, a respectable 4% off the winner, West Burton which scored 90%. Eppleby came second with 88%, Moulton scored 85% and Middleton Tyas were fourth with 84%. Thanks to all who carefully tended their flowers and verges.

Grit bins

A review of the provision of grit bins has been carried out by NYCC Highways. They have proposed removing the majority of the bins in the village. The Chairman of the Parish Meeting has challenged the proposal and will carry out a re-assessment with Highways and Cllr Michael Heseltine.

Books in the Bus Shelter

The sale of books and books in the bus shelter raised £63.82 over the summer months. Thanks to all who have supported the village. Good quality fiction books are always welcome. Please leave them in the bus shelter. All proceeds will go towards Moulton Village Association funds.

Gas safety

North Yorkshire Fire and Rescue Service is working to raise awareness of gas safety issues to keep the public safe from dangerous and poorly maintained gas appliances, which cause gas leaks, fires, explosions and carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning.

In the last year engineers prevented deadly gas incidents in at least 68,000 homes by switching off dangerous appliances. Almost half of these incidents were caused because a gas appliance had not been regularly serviced and had been left in a poor state. It is estimated that 1 in 6 gas appliances is unsafe.

With 20 deaths and 1,000 gas-related injuries in the last three years, it's vital that people make sure their gas appliances are safety checked every year by a registered engineer. Anyone who works on gas appliances while not being Gas Safe registered, is working illegally.

- Get all your gas appliances safety checked once a year by a registered engineer and sign up to a free reminder service at www.StayGasSafe.co.uk
- Make sure your engineer is legal and safe, by making sure they are registered with Gas Safe Register, the UK's official gas authority. You can check by calling 0800 408 5500 or visiting www.GasSafeRegister.co.uk
- Check for warning signs that your appliances aren't working correctly, such as a lazy yellow flame instead of a crisp blue one, black marks on or around the appliance and too much condensation in the room.
- Fit a carbon monoxide alarm.

To find out about dangers in your area visit www.StayGasSafe.co.uk and to find a Gas Safe registered engineer call 0800 408 5500 or visit www.GasSafeRegister.co.uk. North Yorkshire Fire & Rescue offer free home fire risk checks, providing advice, checking existing smoke alarms, and in certain cases may be able to supply and fit new smoke alarms for free. Byron's Column: thoughts from a Rectory lurcher

Summer was a wonderful time for a lurcher of greatness such as I. Jenni, aka the biscuit-buyer had a couple of weeks off, so I was the centre of attention (obviously). I also thought I would take the opportunity, now that I had the space away from guarding the Rectory from squirrels, to consider the various comments which the biscuit-buyer had recently uttered, and undertake a sensible doggy 'sift' of them. The biscuit-buyer is often wittering on about prayer, and a friend of the family (who is much more learned and far more sensible than anyone else, certainly the biscuit-buyer anyway), suggested I write a prayer, and so I put paw to pen and paper as I had the space and the time.

I started with something obvious: Almighty Creator, grant to Dodger the serenity to keep his yip under control, the courage to leave the squirrel chasing to someone greater than he (i.e. me), and the wisdom to know that I am always right.

I was rather proud at this effort. With ink splodges and the odd paw-print where Ty had stuck his snout in, and an eaten corner where Dodger had 'helped', I offered it to the biscuit-buyer. She looked rather doubtful at my offering. 'Byron', she said, 'Dodger can write his own prayer – you don't need to do it for him. Prayer is a very personal thing, which is what makes it so special.'

Well what could I write that was any better than that? I had voiced all my feelings in a couple of sentences, and Dodger didn't seem to mind that I had penned such thoughts on his behalf. Anyway, he was off wreaking havoc somewhere else, so what he didn't know wouldn't harm him. However, the look on the biscuit-buyer's face said otherwise.

And so I tried again:

Creator God, thank you for fox smells, autumn leaves, rivers and rabbit holes.

Thank you for duvets, fires, biscuits and sausages.

Forgive me when I get it wrong (very occasionally), and help me to get it right (which I do most of the time anyway). Keep me from temptation, because I can find my own way there.

Be with little doggies less fortunate than myself, (even if I do have to put up with Ty and Dodger), and remember all of your creation when the going gets tough for them, as it does for us all.

Remember all those who have to make important decisions (the bishops), and all those who think they're important (the biscuit-buyer) when they're really not. Help me to remember that, at the end of the day, your decisions are the only ones that count (but, please God, don't tell the biscuit-buyer I said that).

And when we come to meet you and you welcome us home to sit in front of your fire, remember that we were mere earth-bound creations, often chasing the wrong stick and then eating it.

Amen.

P.S. Dear God, why Ty?

St Michael's Makeover

Over the past three years St Michael's & All Angels Church PCC has been planning to implement a number of projects to upgrade the facilities and systems to make the building more accessible and user-friendly to all. To that end we have :

- removed the old unreliable boiler and replaced it with a modern, efficient unit that will keep the church warm at lower cost.
- installed a water supply that supports the new heating system, and will provide piped water for a range of uses.
- Provided disabled access via the North door that is wheelchair friendly and a level path from the door to the lych gate. Provision of disabled access is required for public buildings under the Disability Discrimination Act 2005, and we are now fully compliant. More importantly, we can now offer easy access to all without the risks of manhandling wheelchairs and their occupants down a series of steps

The next, and largest, project is the installation of toilet and kitchen facilities in the bell tower area of the church, and, in preparation for that work, we have already moved the Victorian font out of the bell tower to a new location near the South door (which is in keeping with liturgical practice). Toilet facilities are not only important for families attending church services, but also for the large number of wedding parties that use our church for their marriage celebrations. The kitchen facilities will include a sink, hot water heater, and cupboard space that will help us use the church more as a community facility than just as a place of worship. To facilitate disabled access to the toilet and kitchen area, we will be lowering the bell tower floor, and an oak screen will cover off the area so that the toilet cannot be seen by the congregation. The screen will match, as far as possible, the woodwork of the organ. Drainage will be via an environmentally friendly trench arch system, which has been successfully used by many churches around the country over the past decade.

Carrying out these types of works in a Grade 1 Listed Building is a monumental bureaucratic process with many agencies requiring to be consulted including Richmondshire District Council. Historic England, Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, Victorian Society, and, of course, the Diocese of West Yorkshire and The Dales. All the works are being overseen by a professional archaeologist, and building control permissions have been received in addition to planning permissions for all external work.

If we can beat the bureaucracy, we hope the toilet/kitchen project works will start in October, and there will be no disruption of Sunday services during implementation - although we will use the North door entrance whilst the trench arch system is installed under the main path to the South entrance.

How are the projects being funded you ask? Applications were made to over 30 grant funding bodies, and we have attracted £17000 of awards, with the balance coming from church funds. Church funds are reasonably healthy, but donations will always be most gratefully received to help reduce the balance.

We have placed a copy of the architect's drawing for the toilet and kitchen facility on the wall of the bell tower in the church, and if anyone has a question on the plans or the projects please do give the Project Manager, Steve Hill, a call on 01325 377700.
