Bulb planting

I hope you all enjoyed the crocuses, snowdrops and daffodils we planted in the centre of the village last autumn. Fingers crossed they will all be up again next spring together with lots of snowdrops planted in the avenue up to the church and in the new graveyard.

I had hoped we would be planting again this Autumn but, alas, we are still having to wait for permission to go ahead. The plan is to plant at the new 'entrances' to the village. These are at the junction of the main village street and the access road to Moulton and at what is now the T-junction at the end of Kneeton Lane (formerly a sharp right hand bend.

We would like to plant both areas with daffodils and snowdrops and are also looking at the possibility of creating some wild flower meadows, funding permitting. There is still work to be done in both areas before they can be officially handed over to NYCC and, as these areas are both bigger than what we have tackled so far and we would need some mechanical assistance, we can't just slip out one dark night and get planting anyway! Fingers are very firmly crossed that this will all be sorted out by this time next year.

Parish Council

What an exciting time it is to be on the Parish Council. There is so much going on - the development of the new Play Park, the updating of the Middleton Tyas Conservation Area Appraisal and Management Plan, ongoing Planning applications, surface water, liaising with our School, maintenance of the defibrillator, dealing with Facebook, speeding in the Village, queries from our residents etc., etc. We all enjoy being one of the seven Parish Councillors working hard on behalf of residents. We do this in an effort to influence the decision makers in both our local and district Councils keeping Middleton Tyas somewhere we continue to want to live.

In May next year, there is an opportunity for any Resident to stand for election as a Parish Councillor. Anyone joining us has the opportunity to shape the community in our beautiful village in North Yorkshire. Some of our Councillors have been doing the job, which is voluntary, for some time. Others may feel that they have achieved what they set out to do when they joined. We are anticipating a vacancy or two. Received wisdom is that a good team performs better with an injection of new ideas and energy from time to time. Could this be the time to put your hand up and help? Our meetings are held in the Village Hall, they are reassuring un-Dibleyesque, and we meet just ten times a year on a Thursday evening - in between times, most of our business is conducted over email. These meetings are always filled with laughter and friendship in addition to the routine and often unexpected business that has to be done.

You may be a little jaded by administration. You can rest assured that our Council is supported by a very capable, experienced Parish Clerk, who keeps all of us on the straight and narrow - in a nice way, of course. It may be that you have been thinking for a while that the Village would benefit from something or some services that you could offer or provide or help the Council acquire in some way. It may be that you are wondering what on earth you might have to offer. It may be that you have often wondered what the Parish Council is, what it actually does and how it all works. All residents are welcome to join us whatever their background. This is the time to step forward - we would love to hear from you. Please contact any of us for further details informally should you so wish. Gordon Davies is our Chairman and he is available on cllr.gdaves@gmail.com if you would like to contact him for further details. Our Parish Clerk is Christine Jones and she is on clerk.mtyas@live.co.uk if you prefer. You can talk to any Parish Councillor, of course and whichever of us you choose to contact, you can rest assured that you will receive a very warm welcome.

In the meantime, there is a place for Volunteers to help our Councillor, Samantha Parks with the updating of the Middleton Tyas Conservation Area Appraisal and Management Plan. This was mentioned in the last edition of the Village News and we have had some volunteers. However, more are needed. So, if you thought you had missed the opportunity to get involved in this initiative, you really haven't. Contact us! A meeting for discussion on this will be taking place with Residents before Christmas, so this is a pressing matter. Please contact Cllr. Perks on cllrsamanthaperks@gmail.com if you are particularly interested in this and feel you can help.

The minutes of our meeting which was held on 11th October will be available as usual on the Middleton Tyas website shortly.

First off, two dates for your diaries. On Saturday, 3 Nov we'll be doing our annual stocktake, which is just basically counting things. If you're free at 1.30pm or a little after, we appreciate any help to make it a quicker job. Secondly, our Big Breakfast starts in the Hall at 9am on the 24th. This is one of our biggest fundraisers and the profit goes to replacing equipment when we need to, so do come along if you're able!

I often have vivid and strange dreams, some of which stay with me, haunting me. Like just why was the postman in my dream? Did he knock twice? And why does Poldark never, ever, make an appearance?

The other night was the oddest for a while. There I was in the shop, carefully lining up all the chocolate, when in came a little girl wearing a red cape and carrying a basket. She looked vaguely familiar yet I couldn't place her ... but with my memory, that wasn't unusual.

"My, what strange hair you have!" she said. Cheeky minx. "That's because its damp outside and its prone to frizz," I replied. "Good morning." It was afternoon, but morning is so much easier to say. "Can I help you with anything in particular?"

"My grandma is poorly in bed, and well, she doesn't look herself. She's a bit – er – hairy." The girl looked sad and a little lost, and I took pity on her. "I have just the thing," I said, leading her down the corridor. We stood in front of shelves packed with cleaning products, washing powder and tabs, nappy wipes and feminine products. I picked up some disposable razors and shaving foam, then eyed the toothpaste and brushes. "How are her teeth?" I asked.

"Well, she is getting a little long in the tooth," the girl said. "I mean, they are longer than usual. And pointier. Yellowish." Hmm, I thought, grandma sounds lovely. I picked up the dental items and raised an eyebrow at the girl. Two in reality, I can't do the one eyebrow lift. She nodded.

"My, what dry hands you have!" she squealed, which was very loud in the narrow corridor. I went off her a little again. "That's with washing my hands every time I go behind the deli counter. Now did grandma give you a list?" The girl reached into a deep pocket and pulled out an I-phone, a little unicorn and finally a list.

"Dog food, logs because my neighbour can't find the woodsman and she needs to light the fire under her cauldron, and an apple because my friend Snow is coming round later." As she read, I put the items in her basket, apart from the logs because they were far too heavy. We dragged them to the till and I began to put the items through. "Oh, and I need some sweets. Lollies and things because some have come off my neighbour's house. I'm going there later, with Snow. She said she's going to cook us. She meant cook us something." The girl giggled, yet something was beginning to sound a little odd.

The girl paid and as I looked at the logs and wondered how she would get them to her neighbour, a nice young man walked in. He was wearing a crown and what looked to be a pair of white yoga leggings. Maybe he had been in a class with Eric in the Hall. Alas though, still not Poldark. "I will carry those logs for you on my handsome white steed," he said regally.

"Charming," I thought, and shut the door behind them. I didn't want to get frizzier.

See, strange...

Ore-some Copper Belles WI

This month Lucy Richardson from Branching Out joined us for a Blooming Lovely Workshop! Having trained and worked as a professional florist for over 30 years, she now demonstrates and teaches how to use flowers in creative and inspiring ways. This wasn't a flower arranging session in the traditional sense that I, and many other members, thought we were going to experience. Instead, Lucy 'crafted' beautiful floral designs using flowers from the garden and through upcycling everyday items that most of us will have in our homes. She created an Autumn wreath, straw vases, an Autumn bottle art display and a hand tied bouquet using pages from a book for the framework. All very unusual ideas but simple to recreate for yourself. Lucy also taught us about floral art and showed us some of her creations which are displayed in hotels and restaurants around our area. Lucy had created impressive structures using wood, wire and straw and then embellished them with pretty flowers. It was more like a form of crafting with the display of flowers in an art form than flower arranging. Everyone was very enthusiastic to know more about everything that Lucy demonstrated to us, and I was certainly inspired to use the flowers in my garden to create something original. To find out more visit www.branchingdesign.com. And if you are interested in flower art and crafting, you might want to join the Antheia Flower Club Richmond and Dales. Contact antheiafc@gmail.com #trysomethingnew

Next meeting is Hair and Make up - getting ready for the party - on Tuesday 13th November at 7:15 pm in the Middleton Tyas Memorial Hall. Voting for the winner of our Logo and Motto competition will also take place at the November meeting. Deadlines for entries are the end of the October.

December's (Tues 11th) meeting will be the Ore-some Copper Belles WI Christmas celebration at the Shoulder of Mutton. If you want to come and have not signed up or paid your deposit, please get in touch. Menu choices and final payments will be due at the November meeting (Christmas Fayre menu - 3 course £22.95, 2 courses £16.95).
